

Mehrunnisa Lalani

Mehrunnisa brings with her over 20 years' experience of working with diverse sectors starting in the voluntary sector and moving onto local government and HM Prison Service. She completed her employed career within the Solicitors Regulation Authority where she was Director of Inclusion with a challenging portfolio which included Consumer Affairs, Corporate Complaints and EDI.

She works as a freelance OD consultant specialising in cultural transformation around EDI, workforce, conflict resolution and stakeholder relationship management. She is currently the EDI strategic lead for Coventry University Group and is working with Birmingham City Council as an EDI strategic consultant.

Mehrunnisa started to volunteer within her community and the wider society from the age of 10 and her faith and upbringing have been a major influence in defining the values by which she lives her life. She mentors and supports a number of individuals to thrive and progress in their careers.

Mehrunnisa has held a number of non-executive positions in the health and voluntary sector within the East Midlands. She has served on a SHA, ACCEA and on the board of a CCG. Nationally she has been a member of the Doctors and Dentists Pay Review Body.

She is a lay Adjudicator/ Fitness to Practice Panel member for the British Association of Counselling and Psychotherapy (BACP) and is a Non-Executive Director for the University Hospitals of Birmingham NHS Foundation Trust where she chairs the People and Culture Committee.

Mehrunnisa has a Postgraduate Diploma in Health Studies, a JNC Qualification in Youth and Community Work and an MA in Health and Community Studies.
